

COUNTY ATTORNEY GEX'S STATEMENT; TACONICASE

SAUNTERINGS
From Where The West
Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

BALBOA discovered the Pacific Ocean on September 29th, in the year 1513. He was the first white man to cross the Isthmus of Panama. The Pacific was so called because it was calm and peaceful when discovered by the Spanish adventurer. Balboa's career quite contrasted the title he gave it to give his important discovery. At the start of his voyaging, Balboa was compelled to have himself smuggled aboard ship in a casket basket labeled "victuals" in order to escape the pressing demands of his creditors. Balboa was later beheaded.

BASEBALL HOLDS the spotlight over the country. At this writing the Dixie Series is tied. New Orleans taking Sunday's game against the visiting San Antonio Missions by a close margin of 3 to 2. All games thus far have been marked by a time display of clean sportsmanship, by the teams and spectators alike. We're proud to have an interest in both clubs.

The World's Series begins October 3rd. The American public take their bag-batting seriously. Revolutions in Cuba, Mexico, Russia, and elsewhere, depression, gang wars, and other sensational news must take a back seat while the big league boys sweat the baseball shore for home runs, as entertainment for the frenzied crowd.

Every loyal citizen would work up as much interest and enthusiasm over the NRA program as the average fan expects during a World's Series. The NRA could not put that buzzard of depression out of commission in short order. Let's all root, cheer, and give our support toward a smashing NRA victory. It's our fight—and we must win. NRA is the "United States Recovery Service." Play Ball!

MOTORISTS traveling the highways to the south of San Antonio have encountered swarms of small butterflies flitting from out of the dense cactus and brushland growth. They seem to be winging a southerly course across the country, probably to warmer climes. During an automobile race from Nueva Laredo to Monterey, Old Mexico, race drivers were compelled to stop and remove the collected butterflies from front of their radiators. This obstruction caused motors to over heat. Some residents believe the butterfly migration is a forerunner of colder weather.

DANCE CUMULUS and arrow expert, called upon his friend to furnish real outdoor atmosphere for a society wedding, which was enacted recently amid the beautiful scenery of Brackenridge Park. The bride, groom, attendants, and wedding guests, were all clad in riding habit and mounted on spirited steeds, as Judge John F. Onion, also on horseback, performed the marriage ceremony. The bride and groom are both equestrian enthusiasts. Their romance blossomed as they galloped along the shadowy bridge paths of the park.

WITH an honorable record of 32 faithful years of service, Uncle Sam's rural delivery service to his credit, Charles A. Blackwood is retiring from active duty on September 30th. Mr. Blackwood's daily appearance over his route will be missed more than words can describe. A mailman's contact with the people he serves touches the heart strings. He knows intimately their joys and sorrows. He listens to tales of woe with sympathetic understanding—rain, boasts, he endures with patience. His cheerful word of greeting makes the day seem brighter for the helpless invalid confined to a wheel chair on the gallery. Many is the strayed child or pet he has returned safely to a worried housewife. Never has he refused to do a favor, even at inconvenience to himself. The mailman is our sincere, honest, and reliable friend. He holds a place in our daily lives—no other can fill.

ACTIVITIES of "Jackleg" automobile travel bureaus will be somewhat curbed by a local city ordinance requiring operators of travel bureaus to post bonds of $1000 to guarantee delivery of tourists to their agreed destination. Many tourists using this unreliable method of transportation have been left stranded in strange cities by automobile owners, who failed to live up to contracts made with travel bureaus. This bond does not insure passengers against accident.

The wise traveler uses the railroad, the safe, speedy, comfortable, and most economical form of transportation in the end.

THE editor of a small Texas town weekly sends the following exchange clipping to this column. We'll pass it on to our readers—maybe they will take a gentle hint—and check up on those subscriptions that are about ready for renewal. Here goes: The editor stood at the pearly gate. He meekly asked of the man of fate for admission to the fold. "What have you done?" St. Peter asked. "To seek admission here?" "I'm a country printing plant on earth for many a year." The gate swung open sharply. As Peter touched the bell. "Come in," he said, "and take a harp. You've had enough of—trouble."

ROCK-A-CHAWS TO MEET PANTHERS.

St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw team will meet the St. Aloysius Panthers at Loyola stadium, Saturday night of next week, October 7, at 8 o'clock on the gridiron.

WAVELAND PREPARES TO HARDSURFACE STREETS WITH FEDERAL AID

Plan to Work Under Federal Emergency Relief Legislation—Maps and Blue Prints Finished—Special Election Called for October 28.

Complying with the wishes of President Roosevelt to relieve the unemployment situation, officials of the Town of Waveland have adopted a definite paving program. They propose to pave Waveland avenue from the beach to the L. & N. depot to Coleman avenue; Coleman avenue from Railroad avenue to the present paving and probably a few others which have not yet been definitely included.

The engineering firm of McGovern and Williams, of Yazoo City, Miss., have been employed as engineers on a contingency basis of 5 per cent. Surveys have been made and plans and specifications practically completed. Bids will be called for within a short time.

It is proposed to take advantage of the Federal Emergency Relief Legislation which provides among many other things that the U. S. Government will finance the proposition over a long period at a very low rate of interest and in addition will assist in the payment of the cost thereof to the extent of 30 per cent of the cost of material and labor. Under the rules prescribed by the President for the Federal Emergency administration of Public Works only home labor can be employed at minimum wage of thirty cents per hour.

An election has been called for October 28, 1933 so that the voters may decide whether they want this improvement or not. Considering the necessity of the improvement, the relief to unemployment, the assistance by the Federal Government, with no additional taxation, the result of the election it would seem to be a foregone conclusion.

COURT OF AWARDS TO SCOUTS

Appropriate Program Marks Court of Awards to Girl Scouts Last Thursday

Thursday night, September 21, the Girl Scout Troop No. 1, held Court of Awards at the home of Mrs. L. W. Jacobs on South Beach Boulevard with a number of parents and friends attending.

The Scouts marched in and were led in the pledge of allegiance by Eleanor Jacobs. "Star Spangled Banner" was sung, and the troop formed into the customary horseshoe. Lieutenant Hona Ansley took charge of the Tenderfoot enrollment, presenting Audrey Anderson, Beatrice Michael, Rena Nelson, Bertha Irene Koch, and Gergette Hale, each with the trefoil pin. Three new Second Class Scouts were given their badges by Mrs. Jacobs. They were Eulalie Coward, Leonel Arceneaux, and Kathryn Heiderman.

Mrs. Goldman, Captain of the Troop, presented proficiency badges as follows: Kathryn Heiderman, 9; Caroline Griffith, 5; Eulalie Coward, 3; Edith Jacobs, 3; Rita Benigno 3; Alice Vivian Evans, 2; Eleanor Jacobs 2; Leonel Arceneaux, 1 and Annie Sue Ingram, 1.

After this ceremony a very clever program was given by the members of the troop as follows:

Piano Solo—Caroline Griffith, The Swan—Ben Hur Chariot Race.

Comic Song—Rena Nelson, Bertha Irene Koch, Gergette Hale, and Iris Davis.

Violin Solo—Mrs. Thomas, "Adoration," by Borowski.

Play—"An Episode in the Life of Robin Hood" arranged and directed by Eleanor Jacobs Senior Pathol Leader.

Following the program delicious punch and cakes were served to the guests.

In a few weeks the Girl Scouts will have on sale beautiful Christmas Cards. Be sure to save your orders for them.

KATHERYN HEIDEMAN, Scribe.

RE-ENLIST FOR CAMP JEFF DAVIS

Present Enlistment in Reformation Camp to Expire October 1.

Jefferson Davis C. C. Camp, located above Kiln, Hancock county under command of Lt. Tucker, succeeding Captain Machette, who recently returned to Fort Benning, Ga., will close October 1 in that respect that the one hundred and seventy odd young men who are now there will be at liberty to resign and return to their respective homes. This will end the summer camp and opening of the camp for winter will immediately follow.

Civilians wishing to re-enlist for the six months may do so and already quite a number have signified their intention of so doing. This number is largely in the majority and evidences the success of the work and manner of management. The young men, according to a personal interview by a representative of The Echo, express their willingness to return and continue working for the government in the reformation project.

Woman's Missionary Meeting and Program At Mrs. Jas. A. Evans

The Woman's Missionary Society held its regular monthly meeting on September 19, at the residence of Mrs. J. A. Evans. Mrs. Beahler, Mrs. J. W. Gray and Mrs. Evans entertaining jointly. The following program followed the usual business meeting:

Opening prayers, Mrs. Heiderman. Hymn: "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow."

Devotional: Mrs. Barnes—Mat. 5: 43-48.

Topic—Forces and Work in Japan. Mrs. Buckley.

Closing prayer, Mrs. Nelson. At the close of the program delicious sherbert and cake was served by the hostesses.

S. J. A. Parents' Club To Hold Business Meeting Friday, October 6th.

On Friday afternoon of next week, October 6, St. Joseph's Academy Parent Club will hold its first business meeting at the Academy, at 2:30 P. M. Special business will be discussed and reports made by the committees.

This meeting will be followed by a social hour. All mothers are urged to attend.

Carron Orchestra Is Feature at Nite Club Again Saturday, 30th.

Received with such unanimous acclaim and praised in terms leaving no room for doubt of its success, Louis Carron and his famous ten-piece orchestra will play a return engagement at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club this Saturday night, September 30th. There will be no extra charge, only one dollar admission, plus charge. Ladies free. Uncle Charlie wisely suggests to make reservations in advance.

NEW REGISTRATIONS AT THE BAY INN.

Mr. Grege Moore, Mr. George Deigle, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Johnson and sons, Harry and Walter, Forest City, Ark.; Miss Mary Seo, Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Mr. Charles Abadie, all of New Orleans; Mr. Robert Conway, Baton Rouge, La.

COAST AUXILIARY IN MEETING AT BAY CITY THIS WEEK

Legion Ladies To Elect Officers and to Hear Special Program for Occasion

The Coast County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary composed of the units from Bay St. Louis to Moss Point, are in session Thursday of this week as The Echo goes to press, for an all day session. The morning program included discussions as follows: Juniors, Mrs. Andrew Pedernine, Jr., Gulfport; membership, Mrs. T. T. Justice, Pascagoula; Auxiliary Standard and Department Prizes, Mrs. C. S. Everts, Gulfport, ninth district president. The new official song, Mississippi Legionnaires will be sung and whistled by Mrs. A. A. McLaughlin, Gulfport.

At the afternoon session a first vice-president will be elected, to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation to the presidency of Mrs. C. W. Raffield of Biloxi, on the resignation of Mrs. Laurent Dickson of Bay St. Louis. The auxiliary program for the fall and winter will be discussed as follows: September, Membership, Mrs. James Murphy, Ocean Springs; October, Unit Activities, Mrs. T. R. Swartout, Pascagoula; November, Armistice Day, Mrs. J. O. Coleman, Biloxi; December, Rehabilitation and Christmas, Mrs. Ed. Brew, Ocean Springs.

The special guest at the meeting was Mrs. V. S. Ike of Poplarville, state department Americanism chairman, who discussed the Department Americanism program. Mrs. Laurent Dickson, Bay St. Louis, discussed "What I Hope to Accomplish in May, Auxiliary This Year." Each unit president will speak on the outstanding thing my unit did last year.

New Business Opens In Bay St. Louis On Saturday of This Week

Planning to meet a demand for better quality and better service at a cheaper price, thus saving money to the public, the management of the Regal Cafe announces formal opening on Saturday of this week, September 29, in the Levine Building, Railroad avenue.

W. A. Stebbins, manager announces that only the best and coldest of drinks will be served at individual tables with sandwiches and raw oysters on the shell as well. If innovation, better drink and better food can be served for less money, and with a uniform courtesy and attention to one and all, then the Regal Cafe will succeed. Trade of ladies and gentlemen alike solicited.

Bay K. of C. Council To Give Benefit Card Party on Next Friday

Affording further opportunity to card players for another pleasant evening and as well helping a cause, a card party is announced to take place on the evening of Friday, October 6, 9 P. M., at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club on the Bay beach front. This affair, promising so much pleasure, will be given by Knights of Columbus, a committee composed of Rev. Father Leo F. Fahey, lecturer; Messrs. Henry Capdepon, Norton Haas, Alden Mauffray and Warren Carver. Games of all kinds will be the order of the evening and the "cassies" promise a good time to all.

ATTEND FUNERAL AT OCEAN SPRINGS.

Rev. Fr. P. J. Ahern, chaplain at Ocean Springs, who died the evening previously, was buried Thursday of this week, with solemn funeral ceremony, at Rev. Bishop Gorow officiating and assisted by clergy from along the Coast and other points. Bay St. Louis was represented at this sad and impressive occasion by Rev. Father John Hohendorf, Father Catania, Father Leo F. Fahey, Father Heffels, Father A. J. Gmelch, and Bro. Williams, St. Stanislaus College.

AN APPRECIATION.

Bay St. Louis, Miss. Sept. 27, 1933. Mr. Chas. G. Moreau, Editor of The Sea Coast Echo. Dear Mr. Moreau: I wish to thank you for your courtesy to me during my tenure of office as Chairman of the Publicity Committee of the Bay St. Louis District of the Catholic Women and am confident my successor will enjoy the same favors extended me.

Yours truly, MRS. JNO. A. GREEN.

COUNTY ATTORNEY GEX IN EXCLUSIVE STATEMENT GIVEN TO THE ECHO REVIEWS HIS ACTIONS IN TACONICASE

MARY JANE TRAIN TO BE ANNULLED

Famous Mid-Day Train Out From New Orleans to Cease Running Sunday October 1.

According to an L. & N. advertisement appearing elsewhere in the columns of The Echo, Train No. 12, out from New Orleans every day reaching here at 12:40 and returning (Bay St. Louis) at 3:48, will be discontinued on and after Sunday, October 1.

The train was known as "The Mary Jane," and in railroad circles as No. 11 one way and No. 12 the other. Attempt to remove this train was successfully opposed June 1 before the Louisiana general utilities board, in session at Baton Rouge.

Recently the railroad company made another appeal to the same executive body, and the request was granted. However, the opposing force to grant the railroad privilege to annul this train is still active and he expressed to continue the fight after the train is off schedule. As was expressed to The Echo by representatives of the opposition.

The train was started years ago as an experiment for summer only. It went over so big it was kept on the year-round and from time to time an additional coach added to the original lobbied train, until it finally became a full-fledged thing. Finally the economic upheaval affected the railroad acutely and the Mary Jane fell victim of lack of patronage and was run as a financial loss, it was said. With the change there still will remain eighteen passenger trains daily.

DELIGHTFUL DANCE MARKS SECOND EVENT OF KIND THIS YEAR

Many Attend Second Formal Dance Given by Local Reforestation Camp.

Friday evening witnessed the second of the formal dances arranged principally by ladies of Bay St. Louis, Mrs. James H. Sylvester, chairman, and operating with the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, and proved an evening of thorough pleasure. Many of the younger set from Bay St. Louis, Kiln and vicinity, duly chaperoned by ladies from the married set, attended and it was noted that there were partners in relative measure to the 170 young civilians in camp.

The spacious mess hall was profusely and tastefully decorated with native foliage and moss and a professional orchestra from away supplied music. Dancing continued until a late hour and refreshment served in abundance.

An orchestra that discoursed real dance music, and plenty of it, a spacious place and perfect floor, and a cool evening, all conspired to the success which marked the event. The beauty and charm of the feminine contingent attending was enhanced by the beauty of dress and the many handsome young beaux in the flower of their youth gave radiant atmosphere and color to the dance.

Another will be planned and announced in due time. The same tickets issued for the dance Friday will hold good for the next. The affairs at the camp are strictly by invitation and are under the auspices of the camp, locally assisted.

Sums Up Action From Beginning of Investigation to End Of That of Grand Jury—Province of Office Not to Prosecute the Innocent on Theory or Hearsay But To Punish the Guilty on Evidence.

The Irene Moore-Taconi case disposed of last week after a thorough investigation by the Grand Jury, covering a period of four days during which time sixty witnesses were examined, County Prosecuting Attorney E. J. Gex gives The Sea Coast Echo an exclusive statement in which he reviews the case and official investigation, showing how delicately the matter was handled and the result of expert opinion following professional examinations.

It is evident that no other course could have been pursued; that the matter was handled in a manner that was calm and deliberate; that nothing that might help to solve the death of the young woman was left undone. The statement is to the effect there was no murder committed. The conclusion to be drawn is that the young woman suicided.

The statement to The Echo follows: Mr. Charles G. Moreau, Editor Sea Coast Echo, My Dear Mr. Moreau:

I wish to thank you and your paper for the attitude taken by you regarding my conduct in the case of the late lamented Irene Moore Taconi. Be it said to the credit of your paper and to yourself that you did not run to wild conclusions and publish statements based on misinformation and that your attitude has been that of one waiting for facts to develop so that your readers might be correctly informed. I had promised you that at the proper time that I would give you a statement in regard to this case giving you all of the facts available so that the public might see exactly what I had done in the case.

The public seems to have been taken off its feet with wild reports based and founded on no truth and on wild statements and conclusions of newspaper reporters who seem to have been careless with the truth and seem to have drawn conclusions favorable to their views, whether based on facts or not.

When I received the news of the accident I got in touch with the sheriff and with the cooperation of that officer and some of his force we proceeded to gather all of the evidence available. At the outset I might add that in my work in solving crime that the State of Mississippi, in its wisdom, has even fit and proper to make available for the use of detecting crime, only such money that is necessary for the purpose of a finger print expert, so that whatever had to be spent in the solving of what appeared to be a mystery, it was incumbent upon me to get the money other than from the Board of Supervisors. I mention this in order that you and the public might see that the money at my command is exceedingly small and in fact none available.

When I started this case one of my good friends in a discussion of the case made the assertion to me substantially as follows: That I wanted to remember that I was not prosecuting anyone but that I was prosecuting. Unfortunately this view seemed to have prevailed among many of our good citizens who had come to conclusions based on reports that were not true. My answer to this gentleman was that I was not prosecuting no one; that no one had been charged with the crime; and that it was my duty to get to the truth in this matter irrespective of whether or not it cleared suspicion on anyone or threw suspicion on someone. My conception of my duties were and still are that I owed the people of my County and of my State the duty to prosecute one that was not guilty, and it was as much my duty to see that the innocent are not prosecuted as the guilty should be punished.

The first question that I felt in the Moore case was to solve the problem of whether or not she met her end by foul play, suicide, or an accident. The marks on her body did not lead much to accident but yet was possible. It left the officers to work on the theories of murder, suicide, or accident.

Before we could attempt to solve this phase of the case the widest reports were circulated around town. These reports were as follows: They were reports detrimental to Mr. A. W. Moore, the father of Irene Moore Taconi. These reports consisted of the following:

1. That Irene Moore Taconi was not the daughter of A. W. Moore and that A. W. Moore had a reputation that deserved investigation at the hands of the officers.

2. It was advocated that the body of this young lady had been down the beach for at least hours prior to being found there. This was advocated as a medical theory and was supposed to have emanated from a physician.

3. That I was derelict in my duties in not having an autopsy made and that an autopsy would have shown conclusively whether or not she was murdered or had committed suicide.

I considered it necessary to thrash out these points before proceeding upon my investigation as the solving of these problems would throw light on the question that we were trying to solve. On the first question I procured a copy of the baptismal record of Mrs. Irene Taconi, and this certificate reads as follows:

COPY OF BAPTISMAL RECORD* St. Michael's Church, New Orleans, July 27th, 1933. On the 26th day of January year 1916 I baptized Margaret Irene Moore, born on 28th day of December year 1915, of Albert William Moore and Irene Hysacine Phillips. Sponsors—Sallie Powers. Certified Copy of our Records. Rev. Wm. J. RYAN, Of St. Michael's Church, New Orleans, La.

By Wm. J. Ryan, Pastor

I next wrote to Memphis where Mr. Moore had lived approximately six years before coming to Bay St. Louis. The following report was received by me:

Mr. Emile J. Gex, County Prosecuting Attorney, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of the 25th inst. requesting information concerning one Albert William Moore, formerly of Memphis but now a resident of your city.

We have no criminal record of this man here.

Yours truly, W. T. GRIFFIN, Chief Inspector.

I questioned people who knew him and had known him for years, and the proof was conclusive, besides the written evidence had that there was no truth in these unfounded reports. On the question of the length of time that she had been down the beach I consulted two of the best detectives, in my opinion, in the South, and they advised me positively that no physician could tell truthfully how long the girl had been there unless she was dead when found. Not satisfied with this, I took the matter up with an eminent physician in New Orleans, a man in whom I have the utmost confidence and I think he is classed as one of the leading physicians in the South. His statement to me, copying it from his letter reads as follows:

"The body being cold when found does not mean anything as to the time of injury. For all severe injuries there is what we call shock, in which the body, particularly the limbs become cold and clammy, with feeble pulse or absent pulse at the wrist, and this condition comes on a few minutes after injury."

Notwithstanding this, I consulted Dr. C. L. Horton and Dr. D. H. Ward, both local physicians and they corroborated the opinion given to me by the detectives and this New Orleans physician.

The next question for me to solve was the problem of the autopsy. The two local physicians above mentioned gave as their opinion that an autopsy would positively throw no light on the subject. I am advised by the District Attorney that Dr. Parker stated the same thing. I once more called upon the detectives and this New Orleans physician mentioned above, and the two detectives and this N. O. doctor gave it as positive fact that an autopsy would do us no good and would not clarify the situation. This notwithstanding the assertion of overzealous newspaper reporters who used the most reprehensible means to force the officers to call an autopsy, who misrepresented and misstated facts, but I felt that with the statements of these folks mentioned above that the matter of an autopsy was ended as far as I was concerned.

With these reports removed I was able to proceed to work on the problem confronting us, and that was whether or not it was a case of murder, or suicide, or accident. I wrote to this New Orleans physician giving him the facts, that is, the nature of the wounds, the condition of the ground, and asked him as a medical proposition whether it was possible to have fallen off the bridge and received these wounds. The report sent by me was checked and approved by both Doctors Horton and Ward and I was advised by this physician of New Orleans that it was possible for the girl to have been murdered, to have received the wounds as described by falling off. Dr. Horton gave it as his opinion that it was possible for the girl to have fallen off the bridge. Dr. Ward also stated these facts and his report was given me in writing and reads as follows:

"At your request I am giving you a report on the condition that existed around the place where the body of

TREES.

Do you ever try to learn a lesson from the trees? asks the Houston Chronicle.

When the fall winds come they sway and bend, but they spring back when the pressure lets up. Wind and rain and chilling blasts from the north strike at the heart of their abode high above the ground.

But the leaves curl up and hang on and grow more and more beautiful.

In their last effort to withstand the elements they change color and become more and more admired for their beauty.

Finally the trees must give up their summer friends, their warm weather children, not strong enough to maintain their strength and usefulness.

Their fair weather friends, the leaves, do pretty well in trying to hang on, but there comes a time when their tenacity is broken.

The poor old trees look worn and sad, but when they are bare the broken and untruthful branches become more apparent and must be pruned.

So it is with human beings.

MARY JANE TRAIN.

WITH the removal of the mid-day L. & N. Coast service train, known as the Mary Jane, there is complaint from many quarters. We, like many, realize the injustice of forcing a corporation operating a train or any other public enterprise in the line of utilities, at actual loss. We would not be willing to have any firm or individual to operate a branch of business that meant a loss in dollars and cents.

But since the Mary Jane, we understand is used to advantage from standpoint of service, particularly on Saturdays and is patronized, it does appear there should be a substitute service. The hope is expressed that the L. & N., in its wisdom and willingness to serve its patrons, will see its way clear to offer something else in return, even though that be only partially or rearrange its coast schedule to meet the demand.

We offer no remedy. We have none. It is not our business of running a railroad or telling others who do how to run one. But it would be well if some arrangement could make it possible to make up the loss, even in a measure, of the Mary Jane services.

YOUR NEWSPAPER.

THE followign was taken from a circular sent to retail merchants by a large wholesale house: "The value of your local newspaper to the success of your business cannot be over-estimated. It's worth all the support and cooperation you can give it. For the newspaper is a mirror reflecting the life of the community in which you and your store have an important part. Your advertisement is reflection of your store in this mirror. Everybody sees it there. If it is not there, the mirror is dark where your store should be. You are there but you cannot be seen. Your store is open for business as usual, but 'out of sight, out of mind.'" To keep in step with the progress of your community; to get your share of business, you must advertise regularly. Take your newspaper publisher into your confidence; he can give you invaluable assistance. Establish an advertising budget. Plan a regular schedule for your advertisements. It's a policy that is followed by the most successful stores; it's an idea that will be profitable for you."

CUBA TRIES AGAIN.

THE Cuban Junta has installed Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin as President of the Republic in the place of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, who was driven from his position. The world is wondering if the new administration will preserve order.

In the meantime an increased number of American warships, mostly small destroyers but including a battleship and several cruisers, surround the Island, seeking to exercise some restraint upon possible lawlessness. From the south of Cuba some reports of disorder and Americans fleeing from their properties to seek protection of the warships.

The United States would certainly hate to have to intervene in Cuba for the purpose of restoring order. Yet if the Cubans do not set up a stable government which can protect lives and property of foreigners the Americans may have this distasteful duty forced upon them.

The hot weather fiend who keeps up with the thermometer during the summer will be seeing how low the mercury goes next winter.

If the country returns to normalcy a lot of people will lose their main excuse for not paying their bills.

Every one of us should make it a mental duty every year to study some new subject. Brains never develop without study.

Readers who send in contributions to our news columns should not forget to sign their names. This is required for the purpose of identification and as evidence of the correctness of the report. Names will not be published but no unsigned news article will appear in print.

SHORT-CUT WILL REVOLUTIONIZE.

NEW Orleans Times-Picayune of Sunday published another full page of pictures and story of the Mississippi-Louisiana highway auto cut, and from this latest review of the progress of the work it is evident the project is not only well under way but nearing completion.

It is now, according to this informative article, the highway shortcut will be a matter of reality sooner than fondest dreams consistently anticipate and that as a result we are going to undergo an entire change in our "geography." An approximate cut of twenty-five miles each way between Bay St. Louis and New Orleans means fifty miles, and a considerable piece of present O. S. T. highway is going to be in the true sense of the term cut off.

This will save the detour now taking motorists over to Slidell, forty miles from Bay St. Louis, for if there was ever a detour, this is one that possibly we might better realize after the change of routing will be made.

There is no reason going to Slidell to go to New Orleans. No one has ever lost anything there save many dollars that a diligent marshal or someone else with an eye to business has possibly overzealously performed in what he constitutes as his bounden duty. Slidell at one time was a place of charm, in all its native beauty and dignity of the aspect of its commercial buildings. Today, visualize the main artery that carries the motorist through the "business section." Pig-stands, gasoline stations galore, cafes, restaurants, beer places, etc. All of these are well enough, even though unsightly due to the incongruous conception of it all, but the abomination of it, in addition to the conglomeration hereinabove referred to, is a congestion of signs of all nondescript description, if description be possible. Why the people of a community will plaster their locality in a manner Slidell folks have allowed, passeth all understanding. Ripley might find another contribution to his "Believe It or Not" cartoons.

While not authoritatively stated, it is understood the bus line management is contemplating a cheap commutation ticket at a yearly rate to be paid monthly, on the deferred payment plan, if you please. This, too, will create another revolutionary change. More frequent service and at a cheaper rate and practically "pay as you enter."

It is all interesting to contemplate. We shall wait and see. And the waiting is not going to be long.

WOULD WE CALL ON THE RED CROSS?

READING about hurricanes that sweep through other sections is one thing and expecting one in your own front yard is another.

If this country is visited by a hurricane of such proportions as to make homeless hundreds of our people, with property loss that runs into huge sums, where would we turn for assistance? The answer is, "the Red Cross."

Other peoples have turned to this great organization of relief in the past, just as we would appeal to it in the event of a catastrophe here. However, in contemplating such a course in the midst of misfortune we should realize our duty to support the work of the organization always.

This is printed because in the next few months the American Red Cross will have its annual roll call. Last year in Bay St. Louis response was not as good as it has been, and it is hoped that more memberships will be taken this year.

The proper relief of stricken people is the chief activity of the Red Cross. To be able to render this service to unfortunate people it is necessary that the work be supported by those who are more fortunate. Therefore, it is our duty to consider seriously the Red Cross appeal when it is presented to us.

ACCEPTED FORMULA.

IT ISN'T often that our editorial eyes scan the social columns, especially when they concern people we do not know. However, in glancing through the many pages of a Sunday edition of one of the large city papers the prominence given the announcement of six engagements arrested our attention and the similarity of the formula used in several of the articles caused a further investigation.

While the English language may have its thousands of words this particular social editor has one formula which is the favorite. "Cordial interest centers in the announcement," etc., contains the key formula, attention being called to the first three words. In the three announcements "cordial social interest." In another it was widespread interest and one was simply "the interest of a host of friends." In all cases, however, except one, the interest "centers" or "is centered" in the announcement of the great event to follow.

We are not criticizing. Those who have never written newspaper copy may not understand how readily certain standard expressions are employed. The English language has many words but it is not so easy to vary words when the same thought is being expressed.

RESULTS—GROCERY ADVERTISING.

THE S. B. Evans Cash Grocery of Honey Grove, Texas, recently published in the Honey Grove Signal-Citizen its fifty second consecutive full page advertisement, according to that newspaper, and plans to carry this amount of space indefinitely.

"The proprietor is a firm believer in advertising, using newspaper space exclusively. He opened a small grocery here five years ago, with a few hundred dollars capital, and during this period of time has never failed to carry an advertisement each week; and today he has the largest stock of merchandise and the most satisfactory grocery business in the city, despite the fact that it has been built up during the worst depression in history."

There are we suspect, in the United States, about 23 men who will be shot this fall because a fool friend, out hunting, will fire when he sees something move in the bushes.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

ECONOMY.

THERE is no question that many of us, indeed most of us, have to economize nowadays. We have no choice in the matter at all. We could not be extravagant if we wished. But we no longer want to imperil the safety of the nation by spending more than is absolutely necessary, rather we wish to assure our own security by denying ourselves and others (especially others) every possible luxury except beer and whiskey. It is a perfect shame the amount of money we are spending on schools, instead of on beer, as you may easily see for yourself by reading the papers. We simply cannot afford expensive schools.

This ideal of economy has been drilled into our minds from the beginning of the world, for only the economical could survive recurrent famines and continue the race. It is a tradition, an obsession. We approach economy as a virtue, and depend on it as a means of economic salvation. It is the subconscious motive that inspires our chuckle-headed export policy. If we only avoid extravagant spending, earn more than we spend and save money we shall be able to return to the conditions of 1926, or 1924, or 1913, or whatever year we set as our ideal.

Let us try to work out in detail this theory of economy and see where it will lead us, not as a personal necessity in this break-down of an outworn system, but as a national policy.

About half the income of a poor family is spent for food. If the well-to-do will only take a few lessons from those less extravagant they will be able to reduce their expenses for this item by a very large amount.

We might all adopt one-pot cookery as a regular habit, and depend on good, nourishing soups and stews, rice and beans, corn bread and mash, and such inexpensive, but wholesome dishes. We might also avoid expensive hotels and dining places, patronizing, when necessary, lunch rooms and other cheap restaurants. At home we can avoid the expensive cuts of meat, fruits and vegetables except when they are most plentiful, other dainties of all sorts, and absolutely eliminate all imported delicacies.

If we would only adopt such measures we could easily save hundreds of millions of dollars now wasted on groceries, meat-markets, hotels and restaurants, and even some millions that now reach our farmers. Just think what wheatless days and meatless days could accomplish.

Then there are expenses for clothing and shelter that are by no means necessary. If we all buy only strong, serviceable clothes and wear them as long as they can be made to serve, patching when necessary, like our grandmothers did, we can reduce our waste enormously. For instance, we might save millions of bales of cotton in that way, as well as the work of thousands of mills, factories and merchants. By crowding up, using old buildings and old fittings we could dispense with the building and household equipment trades for a long time.

As to useless luxuries they are legion. We do not need a single new automobile in this country for at least a year, since we can easily make the old ones serve. Our auto factories might as well close for at least a time. We can dispense with more than half of our present fifteen million or so telephones. We have radios enough already. We could cut down more than half on our expenditures for moving pictures, and we probably would, if this program were carried out.

Under such a policy, the freight and passengers moved on our railroads would be drastically reduced, thus making another saving. There would also be little use for the banks, unless it were to keep all the money we save by not spending it, for loans and expenses for interest would be practically eliminated. There would also be a tremendous saving on rents, for our economy would make our small one-story houses and many of the large buildings and many of the mansions quite unnecessary. We would also be saved from the peril of Wall Street, for there would be no need of a stock exchange or stock brokers if there were no customers for business. Bankers, brokers and others might be colonized, along with other unemployed, on little tracts of farm land where they could raise their own garden truck and keep chickens, a pig and a cow, as has been already planned.

The sense in all this foolishness is that economy, as a large scale policy, will surely wreck our present industrial, financial and even agricultural organization. These will break down of their own tremendous weight unless they have customers. We need, not more saving, but more spending, and that involves the power to spend and to consume. In this complex life of the twentieth century it is simple fact, and a vital importance, that "what we save we lose."

Note: With reference to this column last week, the Russian debt to us for money loaned and goods stolen is stated as $658,000,000. The latest report is that we are planning to forget this little sum, so that we can resume "normal relations" by selling them "vast" quantities of goods on credit. The R. F. C. is said to be doubtful about the security, which seems to be quite intelligent.

NEWSPAPER AND BANKS THE TWO BASIC INSTITUTIONS.

THERE are two institutions that a community must support," says the Mississippi Sun, published at Charleston.

"One is its banks and the other is its newspapers. Without these two basic institutions no community can exist."

"Every dollar taken from the local newspaper by outsiders who contribute nothing to the community, is an undermining of a vital community institution."

"And it was not until all the banks in the nation were closed by executive order, was it realized how vital they were to the community."

The newspapers of Mississippi were 100 per cent loyal to the banks, not only during the recent period that was trying on those institutions, but at all times and in all ways.

The newspapers of Mississippi are also loyal at all times to all other worthy institutions of the State, and in turn the newspapers deserve the loyal support of the people and the institutions that they help to build.—Jackson Clarion-Ledger.

HOW WILL WE USE OUR EXTRA TIME IN NRA TIME OF RECESS

Code Gives Leisure To Many Workers Which May Be Opportunity To Many.

The NRA, with its shorter working day and week has brought into the daily life of every citizen of Bay St. Louis a problem that must be solved by each person. This problem pertains to the use of the extra time that necessarily exists.

Shall this leisure time be spent loafing around the streets, in front of drug stores, the courthouse and the like, or shall we make real use of this time, bringing added joy in living to oneself and to others in the community?

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, head of the Tennessee Valley Authority, recently stated that "the increase of leisure afforded by the national program for shorter work weeks will not add anything to our civilization unless we develop discrimination in the utilization of those spare hours."

The years since the World War have been spent in such a mad rush that the average citizen of our country has lost the art of real living. The jazz-age, with the help of the automobile, all but destroyed the American home life—home being only a place to eat and sleep.

During the past year or so, however things have calmed down a bit, through necessity. Many of us have had time to do some real thinking and most of us, if we are sincere, will realize that the things we considered necessities a few years ago were just passing fancies and that the real things of life were about to be thrown into the discard.

Dr. Morgan plans to bring to the workers in the Tennessee Valley "some joy in living and a constructive use of their leisure time" through training them in individual craftsmanship, training in home management, intelligent buying and budgeting of the family dollar, gardening, community music, organized amateur sports, adult education, nature study and improvement of fishing and hunting grounds.

Into communities where the only amusements have been furnished by the movies and pool halls, he plans to bring athletic games, to revive folk dances and to have supervised play. Efforts will be made to establish a system of adult education, in which the young as well as the old, may continue their education indefinitely.

We would not recommend that all of one's leisure time be taken up by a particular task. A certain amount of time should be spent in loafing, as loafing implies recreation and we all need a certain amount of that. However, unless a community is wise enough to offer a program of leisure activities for those who need it, there is the ever-present danger of creating delinquents and encouraging criminals.

"The leisure that has already come," says Dr. Harold Rugg, "has caught the average man unaware and unprepared. Millions of people have resorted to experiences which are little less than sheer anaesthesia. Witness the daily milling of restless crowds in city squares, the herding together in athletic fields, the experimentation with new concepts and forms of sex life, the gin parties and the petting parties in which all ages and all social classes indulge."

What has Bay St. Louis to offer its citizens in their hours of leisure time? This is an important question which should be seriously considered at this time.

COAST PRESS CLUB DEFERS ACTION ON PRINTING CODE

The Coast Press Club held a called meeting Saturday afternoon at the Markham Hotel, Gulfport, with a representative attendance of printers and newspaper publishers. Various phases of the printing code were discussed but it was decided that the Coast printers can do nothing until the national code is approved.

One Strand Won't Carry a Bridge

THE builder who expects one slim cable to hold up a great bridge is doomed to disappointment. The saver who expects a single deposit to support his plans for financial independence also faces failure. It takes many strands of wire, woven together, to carry the one. And a bridge across the gulf of Want needs many savings deposits, made regularly, to make it secure.

4,000 Expected at L. S. U. For The First Semester.

About 4000 students are expected to register at the Louisiana State University for the first semester of the 1933-34 session, according to inquiries received by Mrs. W. H. Gates, university registrar. It is expected that the second semester registration next February will swell these totals to 4,500. Each figure would set a new record for enrollment for its respective period.

Enrollment at the university has practically doubled in the past two years and last session reached a total of 3,945, a little less than 4,000. Within the two-year period increased registration in the graduate school has been particularly noticeable, enrollment in this division having risen from less than 100 to more than 400 for last session.

The opening day of the 1933-34 year is Wednesday, September 20th. Freshmen will register on the 21st, with upperclassmen scheduled to register on Friday and Saturday. Class work will begin on Monday morning, September 25th.

VISIT TO FORESTRY CAMP 'JEFF DAVIS' NORTH OF KILN COMMUNITY

Character of Work Performed—Building for Future Generations by Protection—Daily Schedule—Personnel of Camp—Other Notes.

BY A VISITOR.

It is a rather difficult task, with broiling sun bearing down on one's person to visualize romance, in the task of the reforestation workers, or to see through swart blinded eyes, the stately pines that will some day adorn the rolling lands of South Mississippi, but some day, the majority of these workers will be so rewarded.

Romance aptly will be present, in the profusion of timber that will give back to Mississippi her appearance of a decade or two ago when the virgin pines clothed her soil, and members of the Civilian Conservation Corps, who are now working as units in President Roosevelt's program for rehabilitation of the country, will point out to the children, or their children's children, the giant growths and remark the toil and hardships forgotten in their pardonable pride, that they had a part in the Magnolia States bid for the restoration of its major forests.

A visit to the immense tracts of land being covered by the C. C. C.'s, as they are being referred to is enlightening to the nth degree. Crews under competent and highly trained forestry workers, have been for the past four months, preparing the lands of Hancock and Pearl River counties, for the planting of the budding pines of the future.

Every detail is being attended to, and although to the casual and uninitiated observer, some of the work seems rather foolish, it will play its part in the care of the embryonic forests in a few years. The countryside is being scoured thoroughly and every growth that might prove a hardship to the baby pine trees, is being destroyed. Roads are being built, bridges are being constructed, and every detail of the natural advantage are being drained of possible standing water, to make way for more trees.

Roads, not haphazard pig trails, winding through the cut over wastes, but straight paths to every section of the tract, are being constructed. True, the roads are not to be hard-surfaced, even the veteran foresters of Uncle Sam's service do not expect that, but they will be levelled and prepared in such manner, that the foresters of the future, may get over the land in their speeding trucks, and fight threatening blazes, that might destroy the tender growing pines.

To the reforestation of the writer, it was an impossibility to get first hand knowledge of more than one crew's workings, but a half day's contact with the person detail, part of the "choofing" it through heavy grass, ankle high, gives an idea of the details of their work.

The crew worked in a spread 300 feet wide, and half a mile long. In two they spread over the strip, hatchet men and poisoners. The hatchet men notched or cut down growths while his partner administered the dose of poison. Growth too large to be cut down, are notched around and the poison is poured about in the circle, while those of smaller diameter, are cut down about two feet from the ground and the stump is poisoned, to prevent its flourishing later.

Care is kept that the poisoning crew works methodically, and does not wander over into new, or away from old territory. A surveyor and assistant, (both members of the C. C. C.) saw to this task. One armed with small compass and makeshift tripod sighted the lines to be followed, pacing off the distances and keeping tally on a notched stick. So accurate are their work that the paid often emerge at the end of the strip, only a pace from their objective, some times a mile or two from their starting point. The compass man, sights a distance tree or stump makes for it on a direct line, swerving only when obstructions are reached that cannot be surmounted. The assistant, blazes the line with an axe, in order that the poison detail might follow in their wake.

None of the tasks at which the C. C. C. details turn their hands, are very difficult from the labor angle and the hours they must toil, are limited to those spent away from the camp. Time utilized in transporting the men to and from camp is charged up to the job at hand and when crews are working close enough to camp to eat in the mess hall, time spent in riding back and forth, comes out of their total number of hours at work and they are afforded a full hour or lunch.

Crew working at distant points are given warm lunches, transported to them in "Mormite" vacuum cans, or containers similar to vacuum bottles, and two or more crews meet at a point previously selected and line up for the mess call.

Many different denominations and creeds are represented in the camp. Those of the Protestant faiths, enjoy religious services in camp each Sunday, while those of the Catholic faith are transported to Bay St. Louis, where they attend church each Sunday evening.

The mess hall is far the most important object in camp, not only that in it the inner man is satisfied, but also that it houses the canteen, and recreation hall, also the post office where the man himself at the end of the day, to receive letters from the "home folks."

In the canteen, wholesale tasteful candies are sold, cigarettes, tooth brushes, tooth paste, razors, razor blades, soaps, etc., may be obtained. The recreation hall, houses, tables at which checkers, cards, and other indoor games may be played. Several bridge tables are also a part of the equipment. More strenuous sports are taken to the out of doors.

These sports include baseball, basketball, volleyball, swimming and boxing, and will in season include possibly football.

Shower baths in which the crews may enjoy a cool off at the end of the day, are also a part of the camp facilities. In the shower bath is included a long trough in which the face and hands may be bathed when a shower is not desired.

As a part of the recreation program, lands from different points in the vicinity of the camp, visit at periods, and render concerts, while motion picture shows, are enjoyed so often.

The program for the day in the camp is as follows:

5:30 o'clock, turn out.
6 o'clock, breakfast.
6:40 o'clock formation and roll call.
7 o'clock, leave camp for work.
Noon, lunch.
3 o'clock, return to camp.
5 o'clock supper.
9 o'clock, lights out.

Saturdays and Sundays, the arising hours are set back one hour, which of course causes the breakfast meal to be at a later hour also. No work for the labor crews are done on Saturdays, and those whose duties in camp require work on Saturday and Sunday, are compensated with days off during the week.

The camp personnel at the present time includes 176 men, mostly from Jones and Forest counties. When first established, the camp did not include men from any other points, but due to transfers and discharges, several who preferred the Kiln location, or resided near the camp, secured transfers there.

It is interesting to note in the list of these in positions of responsibility at the camp, names of more familiar to Jones county and Laurel, than other points. This speaks well for the enrollment from the "Free State." It also is an interesting fact that although the first enrollment which was only for four months, expires on September 30, it is expected only a relatively few will take advantage of their opportunity to leave, and the majority of them expect to reenroll for a six months' period, unless they find a demand for their services elsewhere.

At the present time, messages from the President are being read to the men urging them if possible to find work to do, but offering them the opportunity to reenroll the camps, if their efforts prove futile.

Considering the large number of men present, the utmost of good nature prevails at all times, and seldom does a serious difference occur between the workers, but all partake in a good humored bandage, that some times grows rather rough, but good-natured nevertheless.

Personnel of the Camp.

Personnel of the camp includes: Lieutenant G. A. Tucker, chief officer in charge; Lieutenant Bernard F. Farrelly, First Lieut. officers reserve New Orleans. Lieutenant Tucker is from California and Virginia, and graduated from West Point Military school nine years ago. He was sent to the Kiln camp several weeks ago succeeding Captain H. J. Matchett, of Fort Benning, Ga., as officer in charge. Captain Gray, is medical officer who divides his time between the Kiln camp and that of Ramsay Springs.

H. W. Givens, camp superintendent. Mr. Givens is in charge of the forestry work, and is chief in command over the foresters who accompany the squads of men in their work of preparing the land for the planting of trees. Assisting Mr. Givens are L. E. Miller, foreman. S. L. Toquet, chief surveyor; R. Denton, civil culture surveyor; B. A. Grubmier, assistant surveyor; A. Mallini, chief machinist; R. E. Shaw, civil culture foreman; F. L. Favre, clerk; A. Neaume, H. Seal, and J. R. Murphy, construction foremen.

BAY HIGH TIGERS DEFEAT SAVANNAH HIGH ELEVEN IN FIRST GAME OF SEASON

The Bay High Tigers defeated the hard fighting Savannah High eleven, 6 to 0, last Friday afternoon, in the initial game of the season.

The Tigers were off to a slow start during the first quarter and within a few plays after the kickoff, Savannah had recovered a fumbled ball deep in Bay High territory. A pass into the end zone frustrated the scoring attempt, however, and gave Bay High the ball on the 20 yard line.

In the second quarter the Tigers gained possession of the ball on Savannah's six yard stripe, but a fumble on the next play ended the scoring threat.

Charles Kergosien loomed forth from his tackle position, in the third quarter, to block a punt and Jerry Dickson covered it on the ten yard line for the Tigers. A penalty advanced the oval to within striking distance and Lioanaco went through guard for the touchdown.

The fourth quarter saw them again threaten to score, after Ansley, center, had intercepted a Savannah pass and Hitchcocked 31 yards to the visitor's 16 yard mark. The whistle blew with the goal ten yards away.

The Tigers will invade Lyon High of Covington this afternoon in a non-conference game.

Coach Phillips has been scrimmaging the team daily, working out the defects disclosed in last Friday's game and has shifted several players in the line-up. In the new arrangement Steele and Hills will hold the tackle positions while Nelson and Jordy play at guards. Kergosien and Lader will share the terminals and Ansley will remain at center. Monti and Dickson will alternate half and quarter back berths with Manieri and Lader.

Gus Terry, former star halfback with the Tigers and Freshman player at L. S. U., is assisting Coach Phillips in training the backfield.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

Office again S. J. A. Opened her doors on Sept. 10 to welcome her old pupils, as well as new ones. Contrary to rumors, every class has reported a gratifying increase in enrollment. From all outward appearances, 1933-1934 promises to be a most happy and successful year.

Although we've been having some hot days, the girls are anxious to accomplish a great deal this year, that little head is paid to that discomfort. From the smallest Freshie (and there are some real small ones) to the most dignified Senior (well we're trying our best to live up to that reputation) there is no one shirking her task, each one being fully determined to do her best for herself, her parents, and her school.

The joy of returning to dear S. J. A. was somewhat lessened this year at the thought that dear Mother Claire would not be there to extend a hearty welcome. Sr. L. Raphael's absence was also greatly felt by all, but as such changes are inevitable the students are making the best of it.

Through the new Superior, Mother Evelyn, has been in their midst but a short time, yet she has already won a place in the hearts of the girls.

Mass of The Holy Ghost.

Wednesday morning Sept. 13, 6:30 A. M., the students of the three Catholic schools of the parish attended a special Mass in honor of the Holy Ghost. According to the traditional custom, the pupils of each school met at the beginning of each session to beg the help and guidance of the Holy Spirit upon their work.

A large number of girls and boys were present, and many received Holy Communion. S. J. A. High School was 100 per cent strong. The hymns which were sung during the Mass by the pupils of S. J. A., added much to the impressiveness of the ceremony. Immediately after Mass, Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given.

Organize Parents' Club

The Parents Teachers' Association held their first meeting Friday, afternoon, Sept. 15, St. Joseph's Academy. Very Reverend A. J. Gmelch, the pastor, was present.

Of primary importance at this meeting was the question of retaining the club as the Parent Teachers' Association or of reorganizing simply as a Parents' Club. After much discussion, pro and con, the final decision was put to a vote. The result was greatly in favor of a Parents' Club.

It was also decided that there should be grades for mothers for all grades. Not only for the first and second grades as formerly, but as well for all the twelve grades.

As most of the parents thought a Friday afternoon more convenient than a Saturday, the club will hereafter meet on the first Friday of each month.

A large number of mothers were present and all showed great enthusiasm. From all outward appearance the Parents' Club intends to do much during the coming year for S. J. A.

STATE CONVENTION P-T. A. TO BE HELD AT HATTIESBURG IN OCT.

Fourth to Sixth are Dates Selected—Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Chairman Program Committee.

Interest is growing in the plans for the State Convention of Mississippi Parents and Teachers. It will be in Hattiesburg Oct. 4th-6th, Mrs. C. C. McDonald is Chairman of the Convention Program Committee.

Unusually well-qualified speakers will present subjects with which they have had exceptional opportunity to be familiar. You will not want to miss one of these. Dr. N. B. Bond of the University of Mississippi and State President of the Association of Social Welfare Agencies and one who has been very active in R. F. C. Work and knows the situation in the state will speak on "The Exceptional Child." Mrs. Dr. B. L. Parkinson, wife of the president of M. S. C. W. is a student of childhood and child psychology and through her official positions in school circles for many years is in a position to know just how well the home fits the child for the school. Dr. S. Locke Davis, Pastor of First Baptist Church in Gulfport, is well known for his interest in citizenship and training of youth for right living and guidance in the world of today. Supt. J. E. Gibson, President of the Mississippi Education Association and Superintendent of the city schools of McComb, is not only in a position to know well our educational problems, but is also a forceful speaker.

The Founders Luncheon is an innovation. It will be held Friday noon as the formal closing of the convention. Play to stay for it. Mississippi's presidents will be honored and the Charter Associations will have honor seats. Are you one of them? If so, plan to have a large delegation represent you. At this luncheon the newly elected officers will be installed by the National Officer who will be present. This is a most impressive ceremony and every one should witness it.

Everyone knows what Hattiesburg can offer in the way of music, so the Program Committee planned to feature music in order for all our workers to hear some of it. At the Governor's Dinner the music will be under the direction of Mr. Frank Marsh, Director of Music at S. T. C. Hattiesburg is planning a delightful drive to give us all an opportunity to see her lovely schools and beauty spots. Some of the planned hospitality had to be refused by the Convention Program Committee because of the desire to make the convention of as much practical value as possible. There will be no formal functions requiring evening clothes, but the plans of the Hattiesburg committees show a great consideration for the comfort, convenience, and pleasure of their visitors.

Be it ordered by the Board that the Clerk of this Board be and he is hereby directed to notify Michel Necaise that his contract with Hancock County for the grading of roads in Bay St. Louis shall be discontinued as of September 30th, 1933.

BAY ST. LOUIS TO BE REPRESENTED AT P-T. A. CONVENTION IN OCTOBER

Many Delegates to Attend Mississippi Congress of Parents and Teachers—Main Sessions From Wednesday to Friday.

Much interest centers in the State convention next week in Hattiesburg of the Mississippi Congress of Parents and Teachers. Those attending from Bay St. Louis will be Mrs. A. P. Smith, Mrs. Harry D. Ponte, Mrs. J. A. Evans, Mrs. L. W. Jacobs, Mrs. Milton Phillips, Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Prof. S. J. Ingram, Mrs. R. B. Logan, Mrs. Leo W. Seal and possibly others. From Waveland, Mrs. W. A. Mapp and Mrs. Ahrens will attend.

The main sessions of the convention begin Wednesday at 1:30 in the afternoon and close Friday with a luncheon, honoring the State Founders and charter associations. At this time the newly-elected state officers will be installed.

One of the unique features of the convention will be the "theatricals." The delegates will have the pleasure of learning all the mechanics of the P-T. A. by watching several one-act plays and then have the opportunity afterwards of making criticisms and asking questions. One can not afford to miss that "Marvelous Melodrama of the 'good ole days'." "Balancing the Budget, or Financing Without Funds." There will also be "Telling the World" presented by the Publicity Department, and others.

Thursday, at noon, there will be a luncheon for "men only." The Kiwanians are to be hosts and Supt. W. F. Bond will be toastmaster. At last year's convention they put the "Pa in Parents" and now that he is in, there'll be a report on "Pa's Part in the P. T. A." Superintendents, Principals and Dads are expected and will be sorry if they miss it.

Plays (Three One-Act Plays will demonstrate how a Local Association should function.)

12:15—Divisional Fellowship Luncheon.

Men's Luncheon "Pa's Part in P. T. A."—Supt. W. F. Bond, presiding.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

2:00—Mrs. David Thomas, Presiding. Theme "The Community's Debt to Every Child, Through the Home." Mrs. B. L. Parkinson, Discussion on Home Making, Study Groups for Parent Education, Pre-School Circles, "Community Influences Outside Home and School," Dr. S. Locke Davis.

County Attorney Gex Gives Statement To The Echo On Moore-Taconi Case

Irene Moore Taconi was found and the nature of the wounds found on her body, and giving you my deductions therefrom from a medical standpoint.

"From the deductions made by me from a medical standpoint, my opinion is, judging from these wounds, etc., that the wounds and the condition of the body showed no signs of a case of murder. These deductions are made solely from the wounds on the body.

"The wound on top of the head covered 2-3 of the center of top of skull, just a bit anteriorly located. The right arm was fractured above and below the elbow joint. There were a bit more bruise burns on anterior surface of the right shoulder and upper part of right arm. The skull was caved in on the right side of head, and there was a bruise or discolored spot over the anterior right hip bone. The girl being right handed is conclusive evidence that there was slightly more weight on the right side than on the left.

"The wound on top of the skull was a large flat or scrub wound from just inside of her hair line in front of the head, taking in center 2-3 of skull. This wound had the appearance of a bruise or scrub wound, being of the same nature all over and the same depth and appearance around the edges as in the center except a small incision 1-2 to 3-4 of an inch long located inside the hair line above forehead. With this exception there was not a break in the scalp and no place was cut through to the bone. The depth of the wound was not more than through the true skin, and only deep enough for the oozing of serum from the blood, hemorrhage coming from the small cut. There was no one point of this wound to show a lick by any kind of weapon unless one would claim the small scratch due to a lick.

"The skull caved in on a line along the side of the head above the right ear, parallel to the right eye. The skin which covered this caved in portion of skull was not irritated, nor discolored, as it would have been if crushed by weapon of any kind.

"The nature of these wounds indicate that probably she stood on the straight downward to the sand about thirty feet below and before striking and her hand extended above head.

"It is evident that there was a great deal of weight or force to be checked by the first part of the body striking the sand. The weight or force was due to the momentum of the body in its downward fall. Naturally and unconsciously the hands or her arm extended for protection, and in a right handed person the right hand or arm more so than the left, so that hand or arm struck the sand first and the head fitted closely between arms as a diver strikes the water and with all of the weight or force gained by the fall, and there was no checking of the speed by the hand or arm striking the sand. The arm had to bend back, and in my opinion the head caught in the bend of the right elbow, the head against the elbow and the elbow against the head, the leverage of the arm crushing in the skull. The firmness of the skull caused the right arm above and below the elbow to be fractured. The left wrist was strained, and no doubt would have been fractured if the head had come in contact with the right side of the head. The right hip naturally came down a bit harder than the left. The result was the bruise on anterior surface of right hip bone. Right shoulder evidently was buried a little deeper in the sand as evidenced by an additional amount of bruise burns on anterior surface of right shoulder and right arm also. There were slight bruise burns on the point of the ribs just below and to the right of the breast bone, with none of the left rib on the left side of the breast bone.

"I made a thorough and complete examination of the body and there was no further injury of any kind other than a few scratches of no importance, and please remember there was not a sign of bruise or scratch on posterior part of body. The nature of the wounds on top of skull appear, as coming in contact with some object, and the appearance of some object struck by the head, and as a medical proposition there is a difference in the nature of a wound when an object is wielded by a person and when the head strikes something.

With these reports or facts before me having convinced myself that it was possible for the young lady to have fallen off the bridge, I endeavored to thrust out the truth of one of these theories. I found undisputed that Irene Moore Taconi was seen by her husband at 10:00 P. M. Thursday. Her movements from that hour to the finding of her body were awfully important. An investigation from the neighbors was to the effect that no noise or sound was heard from the Moore house during that night. No one seemed to have seen her away from her residence after 10:00 o'clock with one exception. John January contended that she was seen by him at 20 minutes to 5. This testimony was exceedingly important. We checked up his statement from every angle imaginable and to use the words of Amos and Andy, it was "checked and double checked."

The next development in the case was to the effect that a note had been found by the Marshall boy that purported to have been written by the young lady whose death we were investigating. After considerable trouble the notes were procured. The report that we had received was that only one note was found. To our surprise two were produced. The notes purported to have been signed by Mrs. Taconi who used her nickname "Jit." In my opinion these notes would go far toward solving our problem. Before anyone here was permitted to see these notes, I rang up an able attorney, J. New Orleans, who gave it as his opinion that Professor Spencer was the best handwriting expert in the city of New Orleans. The sheriff's office, paid even for the numerous letters that were indisputably written by Mrs. Taconi. Armed with these notes I proceeded to Professor Spencer and gave him the notes and the letters and asked him for his opinion as to whether or not these notes were written by Mrs. Taconi. His reply speaks for itself:

Mr. Emile J. Gex, Bay St. Louis, Miss.
Dear Sir:

I have made a careful and critical study of the several handwritten writings submitted to me. I find a perfect naturalness in all of the writings, although some of the writings differ materially from some of the other specimens. The characteristics and movements are practically the same as those found in the two notes.

You will find that the capital "I's" and "D's" and "Y's" have a sameness and an individuality that no person individual in the world possesses.

L. D. SPENCER.

When this report was received by me I proceeded then to check up whether or not those folks who knew her handwriting here would identify it as that of being Mrs. Taconi. The first person I called in was Nolan Taconi, the husband of the young lady and in the presence of Sheriff Keller he positively identified the notes and gave it as his opinion that it was written by Mrs. Taconi. I next sent the notes to Professor Ingram by Sheriff Keller, and I am advised by Sheriff Keller that before Professor Ingram would give it as his opinion that it was her handwriting, he thought he knew it, he compared the two notes with letters in his possession written by her and gave it as his opinion that the notes were unquestionably written by Irene Moore Taconi. I next sent for Milton Phillips, a professor at the public school, and asked him as to whether or not he knew the young lady's handwriting and being answered in the affirmative I showed him the notes and he gave it as his opinion that it was her handwriting and wording were that as used by Irene Moore Taconi. You will notice that these notes were not shown to local people until I had received the opinion of an expert. This was done purposely as I did not want to be influenced by the local folks until an expert had passed on the matter.

The next important event to develop on was that word reached me that one of the brothers at St. Stanislaus College knew some facts pertaining to this case. I called to see the brother who was the Vice-President of St. Stanislaus College and is now Vice-President of Catholic High of Baton Rouge. This gentleman is of a retiring disposition, a highly honorable man, and naturally at first he did not want to figure in the case, fearing that he would be besieged by reporters. But upon a promise being given by me that his name would not be used and I pledged myself that whatever he knew would be kept a secret, this gentleman agreed to tell me he knew. He at first paid little significance to his testimony as he was of the opinion that the young lady in the black bathing suit was on the bridge ready to jump and was likely going for a fact that it was a little unusual for people to jump off the bridge and as a matter of fact, that it was a thing that never was done. He next asserted that the young lady he had seen was much further out than where her body was found on sand. Knowing the road as I did and the angle of the bridge, I figured that this might have caused the brother to be a little mistaken as to where he

LADNER BROTHERS HAVE IDEAL FISHING CAMP SOUTH END WALL

Visiting Fishermen Find Every Equipment and Comfort at Command.

Ladner Bros. Fishing Camp on Bayou Caddy, at the south terminus of the Bay-Waveland seawall, has proven popular resort this summer and attracted people from all sections, particularly up-State. It is one of the best equipped fishing camps of the kind on the Coast, and located where the bayou and gulf waters converge makes it all the more interesting, affording sea fishing and fresh water fishing as well.

Messrs. Ladner have many patrons. They have fifty-five skiffs for use by the public, and several motor boats. Parties in fishing skiffs are towed out to the reefs nearby and either on signal of a flag or by time limit, the fishermen are returned by the power boat originally carrying the skiff out.

The large number of skiffs, vary in size and may be rented, along with bait and tackle. The most complete and efficient service is rendered, both day and night and it is no wonder the camp and its business has been so well built.

Strangers and others who come here on a visit find the camp and its paraphernalia just the thing for a few days' fishing. Saving the necessity of worrying about what to bring and how to carry it along. Ladner Bros. save all this trouble and worry. And their charges are astonishingly low.

thought the girl was standing. I suggested that he go with me in my car and that we see and make out the instructions if possible of what he had seen. We went to the spot where he said his car was when he observed the girl on the bridge. He stood on the front road and pointed to the spot where he thought the girl was. We walked on the bridge and placed a person on the spot designated. We walked down the bridge and he showed me the spot where she was standing and it was over the very spot where the body of Irene Moore was found. It seemed that when this brother saw the young lady with the black bathing suit that she was getting down from the lower rail about five or six feet east from where she stood when he last saw her. He explained that she walked rather fast and when he last saw her she was standing on the rail. I might add here that this gentleman does not know Mr. Moore and he had never seen either Mr. Moore or Mrs. Taconi; that they are both strangers to him.

When I had procured all of the information I called on the detectives mentioned by me before, laid before them all of the facts that I had found, asked them whether or not in their opinion the mystery was solved. Their opinion was that it was solved basing their conclusions on the two notes in question. The testimony of January that she was seen at 20 minutes to 5 meant a great deal to them. The testimony of the brother seeing her at approximately a quarter to 5, as stated above, meant in their opinion the solving of my problem, and they figured that the matter had been solved.

I might add that every person that I knew that had been on the bridge from 4:00 to 5:00 o'clock was questioned by myself or some officer in the Sheriff's office.

When the Grand Jury considered the Taconi case I decided to not appear before this body for the reason that I did not want it said by anyone that my presence before the Grand Jury would intimidate this body and prevent them from getting to the bottom of the case. I did not question one witness before that body, was not present when any witness testified, and before the meeting of the Grand Jury I turned over to the District Attorney drawings of the road, the bridge, and the different houses that threw any light on the case; I gave him every report received by me, every paper pertaining to the case, and he was furnished with a statement of what every witness knew concerning the matter.

Build Up Health and Pains Go Away

WOMEN who suffer from weakness often have many aches and pains which a stronger state of health would prevent.

Women in this condition should take Cardui, a purely vegetable tonic that has been in use for over 50 years. Take Cardui to impart the general tone of the system in cases of run-down health and "tired nerves." Women have found, in such cases, that Cardui helps them to overcome pains and make the monthly periods easier. CARDUI is safe and wholesome for women of all ages. Try it!

HERE'S ONE GOOD WAY TO END AGONY OF NEURITIS

NEWARK MAN KNOWS HOW AND LOSES 10 POUNDS

"Gentlemen: I used Kruschen Salts to try and get rid of Neuritis from which I suffered for one year in my left shoulder and arm. . . . I took a little of the salts in the morning, sometimes in my coffee, other times in water. I would also occasionally take a dose in water at night before retiring. For 3 months I used the salts and while I lost 10 pounds in weight, the pain in my shoulder HAS ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED. During the time I was using the salts I received no other medical treatment so I am fully convinced the Kruschen Salts 'did the trick'." C. K. Murray, Newark, N. J.

Take one half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—a jar lasts 4 weeks—get it at any drugstore in the world—costs but a trifle.

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

Josef von Sternberg will direct Marlene Dietrich's next Paramount picture, "Her Regiment of Love," in which Miss Dietrich will play the Catherine the Great of Russia.

"The Sun Also Rises," intended by RKO for Ann Harding, has been vetoed by the Hays office.

Fredric March, it is reported, has signed a contract with MGM at the reputed salary of $4,000 per week. March was formerly with Paramount. An experienced, never tried before, is planned by Pesse L. Lasky who intends to make a picture sometime during the winter or spring with a cast composed entirely of unknown actors and actresses. He believes that he can take a strong story and exploit it sufficiently to get the people into the theatres. Whether he will be successful is a matter to be decided.

Franchot Tone has been added to the cast of "Bombshell," in which Lee Tracy and Jean Harlow are to appear.

The newest Wheeler and Woolsey comedy, "Hips, Hips, Hooray," is to have the strongest possible supporting cast, which is to include besides the aforementioned team, Ginger Rogers, Ruth Etting, Thelma White and Dorothy Lee.

Dolores Del Rio and Joel McCrea, who were last seen together in "Birds of Paradise," will be reunited in "Halls of Desire."

H. B. Warner, who starred in the silent version "Sorrow and Son," has been engaged for the leading role in the talking version of the same picture, which United Artists are planning.

Primo Carnera, world's heavyweight champion, and Max Baer, leading contender, fought for ten rounds in one of MGM's Hollywood studios, before 1,100 spectators and not one paid admission. They appeared in scenes of "The Prize-fighter and the Lady," and among those occupying ringside seats were Marion Davies, Joan Crawford, Marie Dressler, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, Jimmy Durante and Lupe Velez.

"Hoopa," delayed by the illness of Clara Bow, is underway. In the cast are Minna Gombell, Roger Imhof, Ed Brendel, Richard Cromwell, Harvey Stephens, Preston Foster, Hebert Moxin and Florence Roberg.

Fox has given Ralph Morgan a new contract and he will appear in two forthcoming productions, "Walls of Gold," underway, and "The Mad Game," in which Spencer Tracy will also appear.

It seems that it takes more than an operation for appendicitis to stop Claudette Colbert. She made a whirlwind recovery and left with the other members of the cast of "Four Frightened People," for Hawaii to make some of the location scenes.

Kay Francis's next picture for Warner Brothers, "The House on Fifty-sixth Street," has been completed and is ready for release.

and I might add that the Grand Jury questioned over 60 witnesses in this matter and took over 4 days endeavoring to set the facts. I am advised by the District Attorney that every witness that the Grand Jury called was permitted to discuss the matter fully from every angle. No witness was cut short and no witness that either knew or was reported as knowing anything was overlooked and afforded a thorough investigation of all of these witnesses and circumstances, a Grand Jury of 16 men who stand well in this community and in your county made a unanimous report concerning the death of this young lady reading as follows:

"We have spent more than four days of our time examining into the cause of the death of Mrs. Irene Moore Taconi, which occurred June 30th, this year, and we have heard testimony to establish every available witness and we have heard many theories advanced as to the probable cause of her death, but find that said theories are based largely upon opinions honestly formed from false or erroneous information.

"Some witnesses have stated that they fixed opinions as to the cause of the death of this young woman; that said opinions have been formed from what they have heard on the streets and read in the newspapers; that no matter what may hereafter develop or what this grand jury should decide or report, their opinions would not be changed. We, therefore, refrain from reporting our opinion as to the cause of her death but under the circumstances we feel it our duty to say that no witness appearing before the Grand Jury has testified to any fact or circumstance that indicates or to any extent substantiates the theory that Mrs. Taconi was murdered, but, on the other hand, many witnesses have testified to many facts and circumstances within their knowledge which clearly show that she was not murdered and that her death was not caused by violence at the hands of another person or other persons; and as to this case, this is our unanimous report."

I regret very much to have taken so much of your valuable time and space in your paper if you see fit to publish this letter but in fairness to myself I believe I owe the public the duty of explaining to them what I have done in the matter so that they may judge for themselves with the facts before them whether or not I honestly did all within my power to solve the death of this young woman. I realized that those people who are strong on theories will not accept the finding of this Grand Jury, but fortunately for our civilization our laws are so made that we are governed by laws and people cannot be convicted with theories and facts, and the facts as given by the Grand Jury I believe show conclusively that there was no theory presented before the Grand Jury that would show that this young lady met her death at the hands of any person or persons.

Once more thank you for your fairness in dealing with this case. I beg to remain,

Your friend,
E. J. GEX.

BARBARA STANWYCK AS GIRL BANDIT IN LATEST WARNER FILM

Barbara Stanwyck, in a new type of role and with a new leading man will make her appearance on the screen at the A. & G. Theatre on Sunday and Monday, in her latest Warner Brothers picture, "Ladies They Talk About."

As a dashing and attractive bank bandit, cool, worldly wise and hard boiled, who matches her wits against police and prosecutor, Miss Stanwyck interprets a role far removed from her recent characterizations.

For the first time in her life also, she appears as a platinum blonde, although this is in but a few sequences where she uses a blonde disguise while holding up a bank.

Preston S. Foster, who played a crook part in "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang" and Killer Mears in "The Last Mile," has been graduated from heavy parts to play his first leading role for Warner Bros., opposite Miss Stanwyck. He has the role of a young evangelist, who is infatuated with the beautiful young bank bandit he is trying to reform.

The story is a revelation of the life of women prisoners in the California prison and is based upon prison experiences of Dorothy Mackaye, the actress and co-author of the play. She served a term in the institution after the death of her husband in a tragic brawl that stirred Hollywood and the theatrical world a few years ago.

For the accurate and colorful background for the unusual scenes within the prison walls, a replica of the women's section of the institution was constructed on the Warner Bros. lot. In order to make both atmosphere and action correct, a former inmate of San Quentin prison, a woman of high intelligence, was engaged to act as technical advisor throughout the picture.

There is an excellent supporting cast which includes Lyle Talbot, Dorothy Burgess, Lillian Roth, Maude Eburne, Harold Huber, Ruth Donnelly, Robert Warwick, Helen Ware, De Witt Jennings and Robert McWade. Carlton Miles is the co-author of the original play with Miss Mackaye, which was adapted to the screen by Sidney Sutherland and Brown Holmes. Direction was by Howard Bretherton and William Keighley.

HUEY LAYS FIRES IN HOME TO PLOT BY HIS ENEMIES

Two fires, which United States Senator Huey P. Long charged were set by enemies bent upon murdering himself and family, menaced his costly Audubon Boulevard mansion, at New Orleans, early Saturday.

The flames, set at separate points in the basement of the residence were discovered by Joe Messina, the 'Kingfish's' bodyguard, and extinguished only after they had done considerable damage.

Messina, according to Long, attempted to telephone the Fire Department, but the phone was "dead." Long charged his enemies had cut the line after firing his house. The Senator, Mrs. Long and their three children were asleep when the fires were discovered by Messina, who was awakened in his room over the garage by the odor of smoke from the basement windows.

The "Kingfish," tousle-headed and clad in bright-striped pajamas, stormed from his residence, shouting: "It's my enemies. They're trying to murder me and my family in our beds."

Mrs. Long, the children and servants fled to safety with the Senator. Damage was estimated at seven-hundred dollars.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attacks.

Grove's Tasteless Chills Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains special quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chills Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store.

—Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Piazza and family will leave Saturday returning to Chicago, where they formerly resided and Mr. Piazza will resume his position with the Globe Indemnity Company, as appraiser, a position he held quite a while. He returns at the request of his company.

—Misses May Osbourne, Fahey Smith and Elsa Mauffray have returned from their visit to Chicago and the Century of Progress Exposition, reporting an unusually interesting time. Miss Mauffray, of the group, came home later, visiting adjacent places to Chicago. The trio are unanimous in their expression of commendation for the expo.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fortune Jaubert after spending the summer on Waveland beach, recently left by motor for New York City, accompanied by a young daughter and their son, Fortune. Cards received from the party tell of their delightful trip and of reaching New York, where they are combining pleasure with business.

—Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Briede returned to New Orleans Tuesday morning for the winter and have closed their attractive home in Coleman avenue, however, they plan to visit for week-ends during the winter season. They had as their guests from time to time during the summer Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Curry, and their son, W. J. Jr. The Briede home and gardens, particularly the latter, attracted much interest and admiration for the beauty of the grounds, special spot light illumination and figures and things that added to the general landscape. Mr. Briede is a booster for the Gulf Coast and Bay-Waveland in particular.

—Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Benvenuti of Cedar Point announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine, to Mr. Joseph Carasane, native of Bay St. Louis but a resident of Biloxi for a number of years. The happy event to mark the lives of this happy young couple-elect will take place in Bay St. Louis November 9.

—Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith left Tuesday morning with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Clark, the latter of Gulfport, on an auto tour of parts of Florida, combining business with pleasure. They especially visited at Panama City and registered at a well-known resort hotel. They plan to be back before the end of the present week.

—Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Casanas, who have spent a most delightful summer at the beach villa purchased last season, will remain over until the late fall, enjoying the particular beauty of the Coast strand at this season. Mrs. Donald McDonald and young daughter, who have been spending the season with Mrs. McDonald's parents, returned to New Orleans during the week.

—Former Mayor and Mrs. Charles Traub, Sr., returned from New Orleans Tuesday night, in which city they have been at the bedside of son, Charles Jr., a patient at Baptist Hospital following an illness of pneumonia and desperately ill. However, the young man, accompanied by wife and baby and parents as well, plans to be able to be moved to his Bay St. Louis home Saturday, his condition showing such marked improvement. Mr. Traub, Jr., is a valued attaché of the Hancock County Bank.

—Mrs. M. Coogan, her daughter, and Mrs. Amelia Egloff, will leave within the next few days for the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago and plan to remain a week. Mrs. Coogan, recently returned from a trip to Los Angeles, at which place she represented the Spanish-American Auxiliary of New Orleans.

—Mr. G. Y. Blaize, son of Mayor and Mrs. Blaize, left Sunday morning over the L. & N. R. R. route for Chicago where he will visit friends for an indefinite period and incidentally view the exposition. Young Blaize attended Loyola University at Chicago and is no stranger in the big city.

—Mr. Arch Persons, Jr., vice president Spencer Business College, at New Orleans, and in charge of advertising and public relations, was a business visitor to Bay St. Louis Monday. A former resident of Gulfport, he is no stranger on the Coast and was again greeting former friends and acquaintances.

—Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Benvenuti recently acquired the seventh daughter to their interesting family of nine children, and on Sunday Betty Yvonne was christened, Rev. Leo F. Fahey performing the ceremony, with Mr. Henry Capdepon and Mrs. George Schindeldecker sponsors. An informal and quiet celebration at the Benvenuti home followed.

—Bay St. Louis Rotary Club held an interesting and well-attended meeting Wednesday evening at the Answer. Prof. S. J. Ingram, superintendent city schools, was the program speaker. Mr. Norton Haas, recently-elected, assumed his active membership at this meeting. Other members elected will be received at an early date, it is stated.

—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Pitcher spent the past month partly in New York City, where they combined pleasure with business and more lately visited the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, which they declare well worthy of visiting, enumerating several buildings, including the famous hall of science. Mrs. Pitcher returned home Wednesday morning, while Mr. Pitcher will continue on a business tour of the States of Georgia and Alabama. Mr. and Mrs. Pitcher visit New York annually and this was their trip for the year.

—Henry W. O'Dom, federal revenue deputy and collector, with headquarters at Jackson, was a visitor to Bay St. Louis on Thursday of this week, attending the Legion Auxiliary convention. He is State Vice Commander of the Legionnaire. A brother of Miss O'Dom, former demonstration agent for Hancock, he is no stranger here and was generally welcomed.

JURY IN SEMON MORAN MURDER CASE FAILS TO AGREE ON VERDICT

Three For Conviction—Nine For Acquittal—Defense Pitched Battle Upon Grounds of Justifiable Homicide.

Semon Moran, aged 33 years, resident of Standard, Hancock county, charged by the State with the murder of his cousin, Rosaire Moran, at Gravel Pit, near Necaise Crossing last October, was tried this week on the charge before Judge W. A. White, in Circuit Court.

The jury retired at about 11 o'clock Wednesday and returned to the courtroom about 4 that afternoon, failing to agree and the court ordered that a mistrial be entered on the records.

It appears the cousins were not on very best of terms, according to the general impression. One afternoon Rosaire Moran appeared on horseback, armed with a knife, it is alleged. The defendant claimed he was attacked and cut and showed evidence on his arm, although no witnesses testified having witnessing the cutting. Semon, claimed that in self defense he used his gun. The shot took effect in the breast and left arm, and from which Rosaire died.

The defendant did not deny the shooting, claiming self-defense. Rosaire was on horseback when the cutting took place. Men some distance away did not see what happened for the reason it appears the horse's body impeded a clear vision. The jury was impaneled Monday morning and testimony concluded Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday before noon arguments for both sides had been heard. After declaring a mistrial Moran was placed under a $3,000 bond which he furnished Thursday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock, giving personal sureties. Moran is thus at liberty until the next term of circuit court, six months hence, when the case will be called again for hearing. None of the members of the jury discharged nor anyone in the courtroom during the trial will be eligible for jury service at next trial.

There was quite an array of legal talent, both for the State and defense. Moran, the accused was represented by Robert L. Genin, of Bay St. Louis, Former Lt.-Gov. Bidwell Adam of Pass Christian, and T. J. White of Gulfport.

The State was represented in the prosecution by District Attorney R. Cliff Cowan, County Prosecuting Attorney Emile J. Gex and Walter J. Gex, Jr., special prosecution counsel.

The jury was composed of Roy Welch, John Rutherford, John Conney, Asa McQueen, Pat Miller, Nolan Ladner, Herbert Brown, Ben Lee, D. J. McCormick, John D. Mollere, Victor Dedeaux. Bailiff in charge Harry Bourgeois.

STATE FORESTRY SERVICE IN HANCOCK COUNTY TO BE DISCONTINUED

Protection Work and Fire Tower Service To Be Discontinued For Lack of Funds—$3,500 Debt Ends Service For Present.

In order that the actions of the Mississippi Forest Service in regard to forest protection work in Hancock County may not be misunderstood, the following statement is being made on authority of the State Forester, who says:

"With regard to the Wolf River area, we received a check of $300.00 or more, and are making payment (payment to Hancock County Forest Service employees) as soon as possible. With the part we put in (Federal allotment) this will still leave us owing some $3,500, in that area. Under the circumstances, I do not think it advisable that we incur further obligations until we know that money will be available."

The district forester interprets the instructions to mean that the Mississippi Forest Service will not undertake any further forest protection work in Hancock County after Oct. 1, until funds are made available to carry on the work.

The acreage under protection in Hancock county subject to forestry tax is approximately 241,000 acres. This should have yielded $7,230. The Federal allotment would have brought this up to $13,737.00. The amount of tax money so far received is about $2,100.00; with a Federal allotment equal to 90 per cent of this, making altogether less than $4,000.00 received toward paying the expenses of forest protection in Hancock county last year. Up to date none of the men have been paid since last December and this includes garage keepers, filling station operators and other persons who furnished supplies, either direct to the Forest Service, or to Forest Service officials for use in their official duties. The total amount of these expenditures was in the neighborhood of $8,000.00. They were not able to buy lookout towers, telephone material, fire fighting equipment and the like which was needed to carry on the work efficiently. Nevertheless, the personnel of the organization did carry on at considerable personal sacrifice to themselves and with very little to fight fire with except pine tops, they held the area burned down to about 10 per cent, and with an average burned area of only 47 acres per fine which is a record in this part of the South.

It is practically impossible to commend the men of the Wolf River area personnel too highly, and it is also practically impossible to overestimate the value to the county of the work done. It will be a very great set-back to reforestation in Hancock county and will adversely affect the establishment of a new camp and the continuance of the work of the present camp, if the Mississippi Forest Service is obliged to abandon forest protective work in Hancock county, as stated above.

K. E. Kimball, district forester, still hopes that some way will be found to carry on the work as planned, if properly financed.
